

“These are not the people you see in the news that are gathering their meager belongings and trudging through the flood waters to emergency shelters.” Susie Krabacher said, “These people no longer have belongings. They’ve lost their homes, lively hoods, belongings and sadly, family members and children to these devastating storms —The situation is beyond critical!”

“Mercy & Sharing currently provides food aid to more than 4,600 children and elderly every day, in our projects alone. Without this food, the consequences to these children would be catastrophic – they wouldn’t survive.”

“I can hardly believe the devastation I’ve seen” Krabacher said, “We’ve been serving in Haiti for 15 years. I have never seen it this bad. The physical devastation, floods and grief that the people are experiencing now, is beyond what the imagination can comprehend – how much more can this tiny country take? With more than a million people homeless, now is the time to roll up our sleeves and work to save every person we can.”
